Much Birch Parish Walk

On a glorious Spring day in March, 12 walkers and 1 dog met outside Much Birch Village Hall to walk along part of the Herefordshire Trail past Little Birch Church and into Athelstan's Wood. The wood anemones had just come out and we heard the first chiffchaffs of the year.

Athelstan has been a woodland since before the Norman Conquest so is very ancient and now managed by the Duchy of Cornwall. Despite the incessant rain we have had this year the footpaths were not too muddy. I'm told we had more rain in February and March than in any recorded year! I was pleased to have Chris [Little Birch FPO] as our backmarker so no-one was left behind.

We walked back down Ruff lane before crossing the fields to get back round a 4 mile loop. We were welcomed to tea and homemade biscuits in the village hall. Next walk in a few months' time. If you have any issues with footpaths do please report to me in Much Birch on mbfootpaths@btinternet.com or to Chris in Little Birch on chrisfowler1@hotmail.co.uk I understand that HCC have some funds specifically for footpaths in the 2024/25 budget so lets try and improve our local paths.

Thursday 23 May - WICKED LITTLE LETTERS 15

A 1920s English seaside town bears witness to a dark, absurd scandal in this riotous mystery comedy. Based on a stranger-than-fiction true story, "Wicked Little Letters" follows two neighbours: deeply-conservative local Edith Swan (Olivia Colman) and rowdy Irish migrant Rose Gooding (Jessie Buckley). When Edith and fellow residents start to receive wicked letters full of unintentionally hilarious profanities, foul-mouthed Rose is charged with the crime. The anonymous letters prompt a national uproar, and a trial ensues. However, as the town's women, led by Police Officer Gladys Moss (Anjana Vasani), begin to investigate the crime themselves, they suspect that something is amiss and Rose might not be the culprit after all.

The Mystery of Faith

Part of our Easter Service, in the section where we remember the Last Supper there is a congregational response to the words "Great is the mystery of faith". The gathered community says "Christ has died, Christ is risen, Christ will come again".

It is a fundamental tenant of our faith – and the key word here is faith. How do we know that Jesus has died, risen and will return? We don't – we take it on faith, a faith handed down, like family stories, in the Bible and in the traditions of the Church. But faith is something that we also must own for ourselves. Then the faith, mysteriously, becomes real. When we have a moment that moves us from the recitation of a formula into accepting something we can't prove in our hearts. That doesn't mean we shouldn't question or interrogate it. We should because we need to to know our faith, to understand it and so to let it shape our lives, but it will always remain a mystery. There will always be bits we don't understand, bits we struggle with, bits we argue about with family and friends. However, in the end we all recognise the mystery and learn to live with it and use it to shape our world for the better. Revd Mark

Geoff Young

Geoff, who had lived in Little Birch with his wife Julie for the last 9 years, had become an almost indispensable part of village life. From the events he threw himself into, such as coffee mornings, to the support behind the scenes, becoming the treasurer of Little Birch Hall Committee, he made a positive impact on the village and all those he met.

Geoff was always a teacher at heart. His love of education and of helping young people expand their horizons shaped everything he did in his teaching career. Starting in London, he was involved in taking students to Morocco and Turkey on a double-decker bus – a bus which had a number of accidents and which had to be nursed by Geoff back to England at the end of its final trip. He then developed the Duke of Edinburgh Award Scheme at two schools in London, helping young people from the city find peace and confidence exploring the Brecon Beacons. For his services to outdoor education, Geoff was awarded the BEM. Retirement didn't slow him down either. He pursued further education through the U3A and Open University, acquiring knowledge to go with his great personal skills.

Julie, his wife, met him at one of his London schools when he loudly announced in the staff room that he "needed a woman" - for purely practical reasons of course, taking mixed groups away. However, love blossomed and they later married. On Geoff's retirement from teaching, they moved to be close to the Brecon Beacons and became part of everyday life in Little Birch, Julie taking on editing the parish magazine and Geoff printing and helping to distribute it.

Over the last 2 years, his health had not been great and eventually, poor health caught up with him which led to a final but brief stay in hospital. His warmth and enthusiasm for getting things done will be missed.

Jobs for the garden in May

The ground is still saturated at the time of writing (8th April) having just endured storm Kathleen, following day after day of rain. Our grass is getting longer, and so far the only work on the veg. patch has been to prepare our runner bean and sweet pea trenches.

The “hungry season” is upon us. This is so called because much of the winter veg. has been harvested and there will be a couple of months until the new year produce is ready. We have potatoes in store and quite a few carrots left in the garden, plus a few leeks, and some spring cauliflower nearly ready. We have not been able to plant out January sown cauliflower, calabrese and cabbage so they will be late this year, as I suspect will a lot of other crops. I suspect what will happen in a few weeks time, we will have a heat wave and plants will be gasping for water. The cuckoo was heard today – nearly a fortnight earlier than usual – perhaps he knows something that we don’t.

Here are a few ideas for May

- *Keep weeding.
- *Slug watch!!
- *Spring clean’ house plants by wiping dust off smooth leaves with a damp cloth and use a soft brush for hairy leaves, group them together to keep cool and mist them.
- *Tender plants and young plants raised under cover can be gradually hardened off.
- *Divide large clumps of daffodils and snowdrops.
- *Plant up hanging baskets and containers. If you have a greenhouse, and have room, keep them in for a few days to help them establish. In any case keep them sheltered.

Little Birch Gardening Club

May 29th Propagation workshop led by club members

There will also be a chance to join the Club - £15 pa individual ; £25 per pa for couple; £5 for visitor. Tea and coffee will be available with donations to the Club.

Advance notice: June 8th PLANT SALE in LBVH following on from last year’s wonderful array of plants, generously donated by members, friends, family and local garden centres and nurseries. Donations for the sale gratefully received from 9.30am with the sale starting from 10.00 – 12.00. Come early to avoid disappointment! A great way to spend the morning!

More advance notice: June 22nd – OPEN GARDENS

starting at 2.00pm at LBVH. £5 per person. Join us for an afternoon exploring the delights of local gardens, ending with tea and cake at the last garden.

- *Sow hardy annuals.
- *Feed Spring flowering bulbs.
- *Thin seedlings when they have their first true leaves.
- *Sow runner beans, dwarf beans, cucumbers, courgettes and squashes (not forgetting that heaviest marrow for the horticultural show).
- *Earth up potatoes.
- *Protect soft fruit from birds netting if you do not have a fruit cage.
- *Sow quick maturing veg. baby carrots, radish, salad leaves and spinach. None of these need large expanses of ground; you could even try them in amongst flowers in borders – beetroot look quite attractive too.
- *Protect carrots from carrot fly with insect proof mesh or a barrier at least 600mm high.
- *Keep bird baths clean & topped up with fresh water.
- *Plant up hanging baskets and containers. If you have a greenhouse, and have room in it, keep them in for a few days to help them establish. In any case keep them sheltered.
- *Check ponds for tadpoles. Provide a shelf/ramp for them and of course other wildlife to escape. Whilst examining ponds clear off duckweed and blanket weed.
- *Plant scented flowers such as nicotiana, evening primroses and buddleia to attract moths, butterflies and bees. In fact any mauve/purple flowers will attract a wide range of insects.
- *When buying plants, single flowers are better than double flowers, as food is generally more accessible for insects from singles.
