Local News

Congratulations are extended to Bill Walker and Kath who plan to be married at the end of January. We hope that they will enjoy many years of happiness together.

Congratulations also go to Huw Enoch who won his Class at the prestigious Leominster Ploughing Match last autumn which means that he can now compete in the National Ploughing Championship. Well done Huw!

It is sad to report the death of Edith Davies, formerly of King's Thorn who passed away a few weeks before her 100th birthday. She was living in Essex with one of her grand daughters. We extend to her family our deepest sympathies.

It is also sad to report that Sue Pomeroy of Little Birch Road passed away early on New Year's Day after a short illness. Sue was a film director and had her own film company, 'Fuchsia Films'.

Sue can be found on the Internet as she was involved in a remake of Jane Austen. She was also an erstwhile Resident Director of the National Theatre in London with Sir Peter Hall and Anthony Hopkins. We send to her sister, Vanessa, our sincere condolences.

Mark and Laura Simnett and children, Alana and Luke have moved some 400 metres from the Barn in King's Thorn to 'Hawthorn Cottage' and we trust they will all be happy in their new home. We give a warm welcome to Claire and Mark who are planning to move into 'The Barn' early in February.

Two years ago, 'Castles of the Marches' was serialised in the Newsletter, now John Kinross of Much Birch has written another book entitled 'Battlefields of England and Scotland' also published by Amberley Books of Stroud. Seventy battlefields are included with maps and illustrations. Locally, Mortimers Cross in the north of the county and in Tewksbury, 'The Wars of the Roses', are described in detail. The battles of Worcester are also highlighted- one at the start of the Great Civil War and one at the end. The book is available from all good bookshops.

Little Birch & Aconbury's Joint Neighbourhood Development Plan

At the first meeting of 2017 the Steering Group for LB&A NDP were advised by Dr David Nicholson, our planning consultant, that due to the low numbers now required to meet Hereford Council's need for a minimum 14% increase in dwellings, he would produce a 'Housing Delivery Report', which would show how we could achieve such numbers.

This would set out the character of the two parishes - notably the dispersed settlement pattern - as well as reviewing the locations mentioned in responses to the recent Questionnaire Survey. The aim would be to allow further development to come forward that would respect the distinctive character of the villages and be in line with the residents' wishes as expressed in the Questionnaire Survey.

The next steering group meeting would be in early March to discuss David's report and then to finalise the report from any comments made. This meeting is proposed to be on 8th March at Little Birch Village Hall at 7pm.

Anyone wishing more information would be welcome to come along to this meeting . All are welcome.

To be kept up to date with the local NDP and have notification of impending meetings please email our clerk Sophie Glover littlebirchpcclerk@hotmail.co.uk who will add you to the emailing list or visit www.littlebirchparishcouncil.org

What a Wassail!

We had a fantastic night in Little Birch village hall on Saturday 14th. January, when we held our annual Wassail.

It never ceases to amaze us that so many people turn out for this evening of largely repeated activities and songs mixed with complete lunacy, but they do. And our sincere thanks to them, because with their help we managed to raise £952 for Hope Support Charity.

The weather was kind as we processed from the village hall to Bob Mason's orchard to go through our wassail ritual, with burning fires, shouts, songs and a muddy attempt at dancing. Then back in the hall, everyone settled down for our 2017 version of a Mummers Play, which included cameo appearances from Nigel Farage, Donald Trump, Ed Balls, Vlad Putin, Jeremy Corbyn and in starring role, St. Georgina, aka Teresa May, played by Bob M..

After food, we continued with a variety of the usual wassail songs and other bits from Compost Heap, plus poems and songs from friends. It really was a great evening with lots of laughter both from the audience and us. Rob Gould's Scottish interpretation of Putin could get him a part in the next RSC production of Macbeth, whilst Bob Mason is still trying to pry himself out of a very tight pair of leather trousers that he bought from a charity shop as part of his Teresa May outfit. He does seem to like dressing up!

Thank you so much to all who came along and for the generosity that was shown. Our thanks also go to all who helped us through the evening, performing, producing the food, sound and lights, running the bar and helping to clear up.

Until next year! Wassail!

Compost Heap (Bob Chance, Bob Mason, Rob Gould, Allan Pugh)

The first Little Birch Parish Council meeting of 2017 happened on the 4th of January, and all Councillors were present, and, although the Ward Cllr had to send his apologies, he had sent a report electronically.

The Councillors asked our localities steward from Balfour Beatty to look at the surface of the road on Pendant Pitch, there was a feeling that the subsidence and surface cracking might soon become a serious issue. As expected at this time of year, pot holes are beginning to open up and a number of these were also reported to Balfour Beatty.

As mentioned in the last newsletter, the defibrillator has been purchased, and discussions are now underway as to where exactly to place it on the outside of the village hall. The Parish Council's preference was to have it on the wall near the notice board at the front of the building, or, if not there, at least to make sure that it is well sign posted from the car park.

The next Parish Council meetings are on:- 1st February, 1st March and 5th April, all at 7.30pm and all parishoners are very welcome to attend. Agendas are posted on the Parish notice board at least three days in advance and are also on our web site.

Tomatoes in Growbags

Last year my tomato crop failed. I grew several varieties but all plants had distorted growth, typically with pale, curled leaves, and fern like shoot tips. The fruits were also extremely distorted. I have since heard of other growers, both locally and further afield, who have experienced this problem.

I took several photos and sent them to Reg. Moule, on H&W garden question time, to get his opinion. He diagnosed contact with hormone weed killer. I could not understand this as my tomato plants had not been outside my greenhouse and I had not used any hormone weedkiller.

However, an article in the January 2017 edition of the RHS publication of "The Garden", appears to have confirmed Reg's diagnosis. The RHS has been contacted by a number of people who have experienced the same problem. In all cases, like mine, the tomatoes were planted in growbags. The RHS seem to think that the culprit is composted green waste that included grass clippings from turf treated with the persistent broadleaved lawn weedkiller clopyralid. The growbag contents could be either peat free or peat reduced.

Hopefully this was a one-off, but to be ultra cautious the RHS recommend taking a sample of compost from a growbag, putting it in a couple of pots and planting either a couple of tomato or broad bean seeds in them – label clearly. In addition, take another couple of pots and fill with, say, some John Innes potting compost and sow like seeds in these two pots and compare the growth of each.

I doubt that growbag manufacturers have a clue as to what gets composted. It may seem a bit of a fiddle to perform the above test, but it may avoid an early return to supermarket tomatoes with leather skins and little taste as we experienced last year.
